Frequently Asked Questions

What's Madan CA's fee to incorporate a company?

Our fee starts from $918 + tax and includes all items listed in the Incorporation Package. Government fees are included and not billed to you.

How long does it take to incorporate?

We require 5 to 10 business days to incorporate a company and prepare a corporate minute book with all of the relevant documents.

What's a holding company and do I need one?

A holding company is a corporation that owns shares of another company (the main operating business). A holding company is meant to protect the cash retained earnings and valuable assets of its operating companies that it owns. If you want to protect your company's cash and assets, consider a holding company.

Can I pay dividends to family members?

Yes, dividends can be paid to family members who are shareholders. However, the dividends paid must be reasonable based on the work performed in the business by the family member. In addition, the family member must work at least 20 hours / week continuously in the business.

Should I make my spouse a shareholder?

Making your spouse a shareholder is a good idea for income splitting purposes. There are restrictions on the amount of dividends that can be paid to a spouse (see FAQ #5).

What's the difference between a Director and a Shareholder?

A director is elected to the Board of Directors and makes management decisions on behalf of the shareholders. Shareholders are owners of the corporation. A director's fee can be paid to a director and dividends can be paid to a shareholder.

Can my children be shareholders in my corporation?

Minor children (i.e. under the age of 18) cannot own shares in your corporation. However, they can be beneficiaries of a Trust, where the Trust owns shares of your corporation.

What is creditor proofing?

Creditor proofing means protecting the accumulated after-tax cash profits from potential creditors (those who may make a financial claim against the corporation). To accomplish this, pay dividends from an operating corporation to a holding corporation (see FAQ #3).

Can non-residents be shareholders of a corporation?

What is a Canadian Controlled Private Corporation?

A Canadian Controlled Private Corporation (CCPC) is a corporation incorporated in a Province of Canada or Federally and controlled by Canadian residents. CCPCs that run an active business pay a low rate of tax, starting from 12.2% on profits.

How does a corporation protect my personal assets?

Frequently Asked Questions

Cont'd

Do I need to obtain a GST/HST Number?

If your corporation's sales exceed $30,000 in a year, then your corporation needs to obtain a GST/HST number from the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) and charge GST/HST to customers. Note that certain goods and services are exempt from GST/HST (e.g. medical services, residential rents). In addition, services provided to clients outside Canada are 'zero rated', but are subject to reporting on a GST/HST Return.

Can another business take my corporation's name?

By incorporating your business, your corporation name is protected and cannot be used by others. This is especially important for branding and marketing purposes.

How do I add investors to my business?

Investors can subscribe for shares in the capital stock of your corporation. We have created special share classes in your articles of incorporation meant specifically for investors.

Can a Corporation Purchase Real Estate?

Yes, a corporation can purchase real estate, such as vacant land, or a rental property.

Should I pay myself dividends or a salary?

It depends. The benefit of dividends is that they are not subject to costly Canada Pension Plan Premiums, and you can avoid the headache associated with maintaining a company payroll (e.g. payroll taxes, monthly remittances, etc.) However, a salary is advantageous if you want to contribute to your RRSP, increase your available CPP benefits upon retirement, or take advantage of certain tax credits and deductions (e.g. tuition credits, medical expense tax credits, personal vehicle deductions, etc.).
